Boy Accidentally Shot.

Newport, Ind., March 31.—Ollie Danner and Charles Source, two little boys, while shooting at a mark with a small target gun, put in a charge of powder and ball. Source looked down the gun when it discharged, the ball striking the eye and penetrating the brain and causing instant death. He was ten years old.

Suicide.

Memphis, March 20.—William H. Jeter, crazed from excessive drink, suicided this morning by cutting the arteries of his neck with a razor.

On Sunday night, on Beaver in Floyd county, Lewis Sloane was killed with an Enfield rifle, by one H. C. Jacobs. Both had had a quarrel over the ownership of a hog and finally got drunk over their dispute. At this time one of his brothers, John Sloane, and one of his sons, John Sloane, Jr., were with him. When Jacobs fired at him killing him on the spot. (Jacobs is the same party who one-half a year ago shot Wm. Smith on Cat's Fork.)—Greenup Independent.

An Old Man Who Ought to Have Known Better.

LITTLETON, N. D., March 23. Guy Kimball, of Littleton, aged 65, while drunk, last night, beat his wife to death.

Combustion.

To the Editor of the Standard: I wish to insert a few lines in the columns of your paper regarding the phenomena of combustion, having had a dispute on that subject a few days ago. Of course it is impossible and unnecessary for me to give my opinion on the subject which is authenticated by physiologists and chemists of the present. Presume that all persons are aware that the word combustion, from the Latin combustio, means a burning.

The question soon arose concerning animal heat, and this was the point of dispute. My friends vindicating that the functions of the lungs is to heat the blood by the combustion going on continually within them and was then carried warm to different parts of the body to produce animal heat. If I mistake not this I believe was the teaching of physiologists in these modern days, but these opinions which their definitions are "heat of combustion," and these modern physiologists have proven this to be a fallacious or a misleading idea. That the absorption of oxygen produces animal heat none dispute. But that the oxidation of fat and other constituents of the blood, takes place in the minute capillary vessels is the point of doubt. That combustion is accomplished by the oxidation of now introduced food existing in the body as blood, I think is made obvious by physiologists. For example a fat animal deprived of nourishment a few days it will rapidly diminish in weight. This result is certainly the necessary result or consequence of the fact that the animal is continually throwing off carbonic acid and water from the lungs and the skin, and the mineral constituents from the excretory organs, and receiving no food to replace them. If we examine the condition of the animal after this period of starvation, we find the loss of weight and substance is most remarkable in the fact of the body which has diminished in far greater proportion than any of its other constituent substances. If on the other hand we give the animal an abundance of fat in its food. We find that the fat of its own body will suffer no diminution, but the oxygen taken into the blood will transform the fat of the blood into carbonic acid and water and is conveyed to the lungs and breathed out. The oxidation of fat and the other constituents of the blood is supposed to take place mainly in the minute vessels called capillary vessels. The lungs acting as purifiers. The arterial or oxygenated blood coming from the lungs passes a scarlet color, gives up its oxygen to the tissues of the body, and is brought in contact and receives in return the products of oxidation. It then changes color from a bright to a dark red, and returning to the lungs passes into the minute vessels, which are surrounded by air cells. There the carbonic acid and water passes out through the membranous tissues enclosing them through endosmotic action, and by the act of exhalation are forced into the air, while at the same time oxygen from without is taken into the lungs and the blood is restored to its arterial red, and returns upon its circuit to effect the same change and undergo the same transformation.

Notice to Assessors.

The Assessors elected in the several townships in Jackson county, will meet at the Auditor's Office in Jackson, on Thursday, April 12, 1877, and receive blanks and instructions.

T. W. PATTERSON.

Auditor Jackson County.

Dr. A. B. Monahan is at home, and has been quite sick for several days, but he is able to walk around.

Stephen J. Long is going to Kentucky to work at a furnace, and we believe Charles Dickson will take his place in the store of George W. Rice, on Broadway street. Rice must have help, as he sells large quantities of goods. Dickson has had much experience in the business, is acquainted with everybody, and he is not afraid to speak out. Let everybody who wants good goods and good bargains, call on Rice, and if he is busy Charles will be on hand.

James Chestnut is still selling large quantities of fine goods, and among other articles he makes a specialty of corsets. He sells the Health Corset known as the Coutil, at $1.50, and the Pericles, and several other styles, at equally low figures. He also sells the Stocking Supporter, for women and children, Dr. Warner's Duplex Supporter, and several other articles not generally found in stores.

Cross Husbands and Scolding Wives.

"Domestic infidelity," which newspaper reporters nowadays credit with playing such an important part in life's drama, is often the result of lingering or chronic disease. What husband or wife can be cheerful, smiling, and pleasant, when constantly suffering from the tortures of some dread disease? Perhaps the husband's liver becomes torpid, and he experiences bitter, disagreeable taste or nausea, has chilly sensations, alternating with great heat and dryness of the surface of his body, pain in his sides, shoulders, or back, eyes and skin are tinged with yellow, feels dull, indisposed, and dizzy. Through his suffering he becomes gloomy, despondent, and exceedingly irritable in temper. Instead of resorting to so reliable a remedy as a few small doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pills, and following up their action with the use of Golden Medical Discovery, to work the hilarity poison out of the blood, if he plays the part of a "penny wise and pound foolish" man he will attempt to economize by saving the small cost of these medicines. Continuing to suffer, his nervous system becomes embroiled in "domestic infidelity." Or the good wife, from her too laborious duties or family cares, have become subject to such chronic affections as are peculiarly incident to her sex, and being reduced in blood and strength, suffering from headache, nervousness, headache, internal fever, and enduring pains too numerous to mention, she may become peevish and irritable—any thing but a genial helpmate. In this deplorable condition of affairs, should she act wisely and employ Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, it will in due time, by its cordial, tonic and nerve properties, restore her health and transform her from the peevish, scolding, irritable-tempered invalid to a happy, cheerful wife. Laying aside levity and speaking seriously, husbands and wives, you will find the Family Medicine as mentioned reliable and potent remedy. For full particulars of its properties and uses, see Pierce's memorandum Book, which is given away by all druggists.

There is perhaps no article of dress which so finishes out the appearance of a man or boy, as a neat, new fashionable hat or cap. In fact, it is more important than all the balance of the clothing worn. Now the styles of hats and caps for men and boys change, not so frequently as the styles of women's hats and bonnets, but still they often change. How would a man of taste feel to appear in company with a hat of last year's style, or of the year before?

Now all this leads us to the remark that if you want a hat or cap in the latest style, for either yourself or your boy, repair at once to the great clothing store of T. J. Stewart & Co., next door to the First National Bank, and examine their great spring stock of hats and caps.

Some two or three weeks ago we published an arithmetic question, and have received several answers and solutions, but we lack the algebraic and arithmetic characters to publish them.

It does not matter much to the people of Jackson, whether Packard or Nicholls, Hampton or Chamberlain, should be recognized as Governor. But all recognize the fact that Mark Stenberger wants to sell goods. And he does sell them, in large quantities. His store is next door to that of Mr. Martin & Son, on Broadway, and his stock is very full, and very fine.

Among the new goods received by T. J. Stewart & Co., at their great clothing store, next door to the First National Bank, is a very large and general assortment of Boots and Shoes, comprising every size, style and quality of goods in this line. All the latest styles of boots and shoes, with all the latest improvements, can be found at this store, for both men and boys.

These goods are all new, well made, and can be sold at the very lowest prices for the time.

The Standard Office is now turning out as fine job work as any office in Ohio. Call and see our patent blotters. They may be seen at this office, or at the Book Store of J. A. Starkey, on Broadway.

Starkley has for sale a great variety of moulding for picture frames, and he frames pictures to order, on short notice. ap5t

These sudden changes of the weather seldom fail to bring a cough or cold, and we can recommend Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup as a certain cure for all diseases of the Lungs and Chest.

The price is only 25 cents.

For sale by all druggists.

Children's cradles and cribs are always in season. The season for children's wares is now here. Bedsteads, bureaus, chairs, tables, and a hundred other articles of furniture are all the time needed. Now when you want any of the above articles, or anything else in the way of furniture, call on Wade & Long, Broadway street, opposite the Grattan Block.

Morris Stenberger intended to change his advertisement this week, but he has been so busy receiving, putting up and selling new goods, that he failed to get his advertisement ready. He has one of the very largest assortments of goods ever collected in one store in Jackson. He makes the sale of men's and boys' clothing one of his specialties, and now that the stock is so full, he is able to select goods to suit any and all customers. He also keeps everything else in the way of dry goods, boots and shoes, hats and caps, groceries, &c.

Call at the Stenberger corner, Main and Broadway street, opposite the Court House, and you cannot all to be suited in goods.

Notice to Assessors.

The Assessors elected in the several townships in Jackson county, will meet at the Auditor's Office in Jackson, on Thursday, April 12, 1877, and receive blanks and instructions.

T. W. PATTERSON.

Auditor Jackson County.

Dr. A. B. Monahan is at home, and has been quite sick for several days, but he is able to walk around.

Stephen J. Long is going to Kentucky to work at a furnace, and we believe Charles Dickson will take his place in the store of George W. Rice, on Broadway street. Rice must have help, as he sells large quantities of goods. Dickson has had much experience in the business, is acquainted with everybody, and he is not afraid to speak out. Let everybody who wants good goods and good bargains, call on Rice, and if he is busy Charles will be on hand.

James Chestnut is still selling large quantities of fine goods, and among other articles he makes a specialty of corsets. He sells the Health Corset known as the Coutil, at $1.50, and the Pericles, and several other styles, at equally low figures. He also sells the Stocking Supporter, for women and children, Dr. Warner's Duplex Supporter, and several other articles not generally found in stores.

Cross Husbands and Scolding Wives.

"Domestic infidelity," which newspaper reporters nowadays credit with playing such an important part in life's drama, is often the result of lingering or chronic disease. What husband or wife can be cheerful, smiling, and pleasant, when constantly suffering from the tortures of some dread disease? Perhaps the husband's liver becomes torpid, and he experiences bitter, disagreeable taste or nausea, has chilly sensations, alternating with great heat and dryness of the surface of his body, pain in his sides, shoulders, or back, eyes and skin are tinged with yellow, feels dull, indisposed, and dizzy. Through his suffering he becomes gloomy, despondent, and exceedingly irritable in temper. Instead of resorting to so reliable a remedy as a few small doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pills, and following up their action with the use of Golden Medical Discovery, to work the hilarity poison out of the blood, if he plays the part of a "penny wise and pound foolish" man he will attempt to economize by saving the small cost of these medicines. Continuing to suffer, his nervous system becomes embroiled in "domestic infidelity." Or the good wife, from her too laborious duties or family cares, have become subject to such chronic
